THE POULTRY SHOW.

The annual show of the Napanee Poultry Pigeon and Pet Stock Association was held in the Town Hall on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week. Over 700 birds were exhibited of every variety and type. Every class was well filled, Rhode Island Reds and White Wyandottes leading in point of numbers. The extremely cold weather detracted somewhat from the attendance the first two days, but not withstanding the cold the attendance was good.

Among the special features of the show Mr. J. W. Bell, the lecturer on turkeys, delighted his audience with his masterly handling of his subject, thoroughly explaining turkey raising for profit, and his hearers derived great benefit from his lecture.

Mr. E. Evans, Toronto, gave daily demonstrations in poultry killing and plucking, which was extremely interesting and instructive. Mr. Evans killed and dressed a bird in three quarters of a minute. Mr. Evans has been secured to give demonstrations again next year.

A new departure was the Farmers' Class, receiving entries from those who secured eggs through the local office of the Department of Agriculture. A large number of birds were entered in this class.

Another new class was the school children's class open to prize winners at school fairs.

CANADA TEMPERANCE ACT.

Editor Express:

I will publish the following:
"I think things work together for good to those who do the will of God."
I am willing to carry Local Option for the town of Napanee will give us prosperity for the county, a larger number will be benefitted.

THE CANADA TEMPERANCE ACT.

A number of counties will be voting on the Act on January 29. Some objection to local option on the ground that it applies to a very limited area, each municipality having to vote singly. This is one of the points of difference in contrasting local option with the Canada Temperance Act.

A majority vote brings it into force,
in the other hand, being a Federal Act, women who have a vote on local option are barred from voting on
the Canada Temperance Act.
The Act wisely provides that when it comes into force in a county that has one or more municipalities
on which local option is in force it does not repeal local option, but merely keeps it in abeyance just at the point of peak, where it left off, and if,
by chance, the Canada Temperance Act should be repealed, automatically local option comes into force and stays in force, an attempt to repeal not being allowable until local option has run its full course,
and, of course, the time it was in force before the Canada Temperance Act was repealed.

The Act, signed by 25 per cent of the voters who are entitled to vote at municipal Parliamentary elections under a special election, and if it carries, it comes into force at the beginning of the next license year,
the vote is taken after November of the preceding year, as in the other case, when, if the Act carries it does not come into force until May 1.

Through the Canada Temperance Act a Dominion measure, the "Outside Liquor Law" contains provisions for its enforcement.
Under the Ontario Legislature
the word of honor that it is enforced as faithfully as any other part of the Liquor License Law.
Points of interest are that any one brought into the country, other than used for medicinal, manufacture or sacramental purposes,
is procured and paid for outside the province, and further, this liquor so procured can be used for home consumption, solely. The penalties for violation are a fine not less than $50,
or a month in jail for the first offence. A fine of $100 or a term in jail for two months can be imposed for a second offence. The third offence means a term in jail for four months without the option of a fine, employer and employee being jointly responsible.

It is not necessary to prove that a man has sold down his money, or drank or got a conviction. If the rate is fully convinced that the law has been violated by action that practically amounts to a sale or that an unlawful disposi-

Council Chambers,
Jan. 12th, 1914.

The first meeting of the Town
Council was held in the Council Chamber, on Monday evening.

Mayor Alexander occupied the chair.

Members present—Reeve Denison,
and Councillors Walters, Wiseman, Waller, Carson, Dickinson and Graham.

Mayor Alexander addressed the Council remarking that he was a firm believer in success in life was attained by beginning right, and he was desirous of beginning this Council of 1914 aright, and would ask Rev. Dr. Howard to open the meeting with prayer.

Rev. Dr. Howard, who occupied a seat at the left of the Mayor, offered up a prayer.

Mayor Alexander then made his inaugural address, which was as follows:—

Napanee, Ont., Jan. 12th, 1914.
Gentlemen:—

The voice of the people at the polls on the 5th inst., has sent us here to take charge of the affairs of the corporation for the year 1914,

the corporation for the year 1914, and personally I have had the honor to be selected as your chief magistrate, and consequently as the presiding officer at the Council meetings. We are a sort of Board of Directors to manage the town's affairs for the ensuing twelve months, and as such are responsible to the ratepayers who are the shareholders of the corporation for the efficient and economical handling of their business.

The majority of you held seats in last year's Council, two of you formerly sat at the Council Board, and only one member is new to Municipal affairs. You should therefore be well equipped with Municipal experience to take up the threads of government where they were laid down by last year's Council, continue the Council's policy where it has been good, and profit by any mistakes which may have been made in the past. Each of you as Chairman of one of the Standing Committees, will be expected to master the details of the department which he has in charge, and I would ask that you do each as early as possible make yourself thoroughly conversant with those matters which particularly come within the scope of your duties.

The Finance Committee especially is charged with the responsibility of preparing the estimates of receipts and expenditures, but this can only be done after a careful survey of the work that has been done by last year's committees, and of the work which the Council contemplates doing in the present financial year. A very large portion of the money spent by the Council is uncontrollable, that is, it is fixed either by contracts which are in existence, for example, the water works and the electric light contracts, or by bodies over which we have no control, for example, the County rate and the estimates of the Board of Education. The controllable expenditure consists mainly of the moneys which are spent upon the streets and upon improvements to the public buildings and parks belonging to the Municipality. The revenues of the Council are mainly from the levy of taxes, and it will be our duty to keep the tax rate as low as possible consistent with efficiency. In order that the Finance Committee may be able to bring down their estimate as early as possible, the Chairman of each department should at once prepare an estimate of the money he may require, and each should bear in mind that as we will have a considerably larger debenture payment to make this year, there will of necessity be considerable hewing in order to keep the tax rate at a reasonable figure. Another feature of municipal government that is often lost sight of by the burdened ratepayers is that we are getting a much better service than we were some years ago, and moreover the cost of labor has practically doubled, and at the same time our total assessment has remained about the same.

Bulletin Issued Last Night That No Improvement Has Shown and That Premier Weak and Restless — D and Mr. Wallis Admitted Room For Encouragement

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—As to the official bulletins the of Sir James Whitney, the Premier, was not nearly so encouraging yesterday as it was during previous few days. His rest had increased, and besides arising weakness manifested itself. R. A. Pyne, his colleague and an, admitted last night the prospect was not encouraging. Intimated that no danger was apprehended within a short time.

At nine o'clock Dr. Pyne issued following bulletin: "Sir James Whitney's condition has not improved during the day. He is still rest weak."

Dr. Pyne went out for a few minutes shortly after nine o'clock his return he was met in the by Horace Wallis, the Premier's secretary, who had come to the phone from the sick room. A few minutes' conversation took place back to their room.

Dr. Pyne announced, however, about 10 o'clock that the illness which had characterized Premier's condition during had ceased. "He is now quietly," said Dr. Pyne, "the prospect is that he will have good night."

Last night the same pessimistic feeling was apparent with D and Mr. Wallis as that which when the previous setback took some days ago. The fact that the Premier had grown weaker in the time was not considered to have changed the case, and while the charge did not admit that a was lost, they were not looking forward to developments with glee of confidence, although maintained that there was no a fatal termination for some

WILL HOLD JUBILEE.

HE ALLEGES HERESY.

Bishop of Zanzibar's Controversy Has Roused England.

LONDON, Jan. 13.—Interest in the Kikuyu controversy continues unabated, and while the Archbishop of Canterbury's letter, published in The London Times last Saturday, had the effect of allaying the bitter feeling and stemming the tide of letters to the newspapers, the opinion is general that the adherents of the High Church party and the evangelical school are merely having a brief armistice, and that hostilities will be resumed with increased violence
when the Bishop of Zanzibar arrives in London to make formal charges of heresy against the Bishops of Uganda and Mombasa. The Bishop of Uganda has already reached London,
but is maintaining a discreet silence.

The cloud of issues raised has so obscured the original issue that for an intelligent insight into the present crisis it is necessary to return to the genesis of the controversy, which is found in the Bishop of Zanzibar's open letter to the Bishop of St. Alban's charging the Bishops of Uganda and Mombasa with "heresy in their teaching of the meaning and value of episcopacy."

A canon of Worcester sums up the real question at immediate issue as follows:

"The crux of the whole question seems to me to be not the matter of sentiment of whether or not the English Church can regard the religious efforts of the various dissenting bodies with a friendly eye, but whether the English Church can formally cooperate with non-Episcopal bodies;
in fact, what is now the law of the Church of England guiding the actions of her ministers."

TAUNTS POLICE CHIEF.

Krafchenko Sends Dead Rabbit to Winnipeg Officer.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 13.—Aroused at the public clamor for a thorough investigation of the escape of John Krafchenko, the Plum Coulee desper-ado, from the Winnipeg central police station Saturday morning, the Manitoba Government yesterday announced the appointment of a royal commission to make a complete probing. The enquiry will be conducted by Chief Justice Mathers of the Court of King's Bench.

Developments yesterday added more mystery to the escape. It was found that one of the bars of the window in the room where Krafchenko was confined had been pried loose from its cement bed and moved about four inches. The nut on the end of another bar had been removed, a feat that could not be done without a wrench.

The police now believe Krafchenko is being harbored by friends in the city.

During his preliminary trial Krafchenko openly boasted that he would be out shooting rabbits in the spring.
Yesterday a rabbit was delivered to Police Chief MacPherson, with "the compliments of John Krafchenko." Close scrutiny of the handwriting proved beyond doubt that it was that of the escaped murderer, it is said in police circles. Rewards offered for information leading to the arrest
now total $6,000, and the City Council last night added another thousand to this.

BIG STRIKE IS CERTAIN

South Africa Confronted With a General Walk-Out.

Troops Are Mobilizing With Great Rapidity to Cop With Violence and Cape Town Is Like a Besieged City — Proclamation of Martial Law Is Withheld Until the Very Last Moment.

CAPE TOWN, Jan. 13.—Quiet prevails throughout South Africa to-day, but this may be the lull before the storm, as the incoming ballots from various centres make it practically certain that a general strike will be voted. The ballots received from the miners along the reef all favor a strike, and the various trades, including shop assistants, warehousemen
and clerks, in Johannesburg have voted similarly.

The feeling is growing in Johannesburg that the situation is becoming more serious. The Cape Town harbor workers have not been officially called out by the union, but their response will not be known until tonight.

A ballot by the Johannesburg branch of the Typographical Union has resulted, by a large majority, in favor of a strike. This probably means that the people of Johannesburg will have no newspapers after to-day.

The most hopeful feature of the situation is the extraordinary success
attending the mobilization of troops.
It is estimated that there are 20,000
armed men on the Rand, most of whom have come prepared for the same kind of a campaign which made the Boers so long the despair of the English generals.

Cape Town yesterday also bore the appearance of a besieged city. A great mass meeting of workmen was held last night without the slightest indication of disorder. The impressive display of military is likely to have a wholesome effect on the Basu-tos, squads of whom continue to be escorted to the borders of the native settlements under armed guards.

Reports from different districts
are conflicting, but the general opinion is that the situation has grown worse. Meanwhile the Government is withholding the proclamation of martial law until the last moment.

WILL HOLD JUBILEE.

Edward Island Asks Dominion to Co-operate.

FAWA, Jan. 13.—The Dominion government has been invited by A. J. Matheson, Premier of Edward Island, to take part in the jubilee of the Charlottetown conference which will be celebrated this summer. It was at the Charlottetown conference in 1864 the first steps were taken which led in the confederation of the provinces of Canada in 1867. The living member of that conference Sir Charles Tupper, and it is that he will be able to be present at the jubilee celebration.

Matheson asks that the Dominion Government co-operate with the Prince Edward Island Government in making the celebration of national character.

Matheson has replied that the Dominion Government will co-operate in any way possible.

Senator Cox Ill.

ONTARIO, Jan. 13.—Senator Geo. Cox, for many years a leader in the financial world of Toronto, yesterday owing to ill-health, resigned the office of President of the Canada Life Insurance Co.

A physician, Dr. J. L. Davison, last night that the Senator was seriously ill, and it is known that his illness has been causing grave anxiety to his family and friends. Senator Cox is resting quietly at his home in Brompton street.

New Postal Agreement.

FAWA, Jan. 13.—Hon. L. P. Fisher, Postmaster-General, announces a new agreement with the Government of Australia for the interchange of parcels, under the present rate of 24 cents a pound up to 11 pounds either way is reduced after the first pound to 12 cents a pound. The reduced rate will take effect from Jan. 1, 1914. This will no doubt lead to an increased volume of parcel post business between the two countries.

Maine and Quebec Highway.

PORTLAND, Me., Jan. 13.—A new highway 224 miles long, connecting Portland, Me., and the city of Quebec, has been announced by the State Highway Commission. The Quebec Government has appropriated $300,000 to the road from Quebec to the Maine boundary, a distance of 93 miles, and the remaining 131 miles will be constructed by this state.

Appendix Removal a Mere Bagatelle to This Man.

JACKSON, Miss., Jan. 13.—"Slow down a little bit at West street; I want to go over to the sanitarium and get my appendix cut out." After making this request, Warren Pullen, a local life insurance man, jumped from a moving automobile, walked to the Jackson sanitarium, and an hour later was on the operating table watching the surgeons work on him. Mr. Pullen refused to take an anesthetic. "That ether stuff makes a fellow sick," he explained to Dr. Crisler. After the operation the young man insisted on getting a good look at the incision and then calmly requested that his wife be notified of the operation.

Merry Del Val Arch-Priest.

ROME, Jan. 13.—The Pope has appointed Cardinal Merry Del Val, Arch-priest of St. Peter's, to succeed the late Cardinal Rampolla, according to the official announcement made last night. A deputation of the Canons of St. Peter's was received in audience by the Pope yesterday afternoon and discussed with the Pontiff the appointment of the new Arch-priest.

Cardinal Merry Del Val is well-known throughout Canada, having been Papal Delegate here some years ago.

Academy of International Law.

The Government purposes making an attempt to resume the full service of trains on all the railroads to-day, and it is in order to safeguard the train crews and the passengers that regulations usually imposed only during a state of siege are to be introduced.

VOTES FOR FREE WHEAT.

Manitoba Legislature Unanimous for Removal of Duty.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 13.—The free wheat resolution introduced in the Manitoba Legislature by H. S. Simpson, a Conservative member, was under debate in the House yesterday. It wound up with the resolution being unanimously carried. T. C. Norris, Opposition leader, was the principal speaker, devoting his time to twitting the Conservatives on their change of front since the Federal reciprocity campaign. A resolution by Mr. Norris that the resolution be redrafted to include free entrance into the United States of oats, barley, flax, and the entrance into Canada of agricultural implements duty free was ruled out of order.

Mr. Simpson's resolution memorialized the Dominion Government to remove the countervailing duty on Canadian wheat, in order that the farmers of the Canadian west might be able to take advantage of the wheat clause of the new Underwood tariff in the United States.

Why She Kept Quiet.

A nervous matron was upbraiding her negro maid and the servant remained silent. This exasperated the mistress, who shouted:

"Mandy, why don't you say something? Why do you keep quiet?"

"Cause, missy," replied Mandy meekly, "it takes two to make a fight, an' it ain't propah foh ladies to fight."

His Sorrow.

"You know that box of cigars you gave me on my birthday, dear?" said a man to his wife.

"Yes."

"Well, I took them down to the office, and some one stole them."

"I'm awfully sorry."

"So am I—for the thief!" was the cruel remark.

Breaking Up the Gangsters.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—Thirty members of East Side gangs yesterday began serving five-day workhouse sentences, and "Dopey Benny" Fein, leader of a band that bears his name, and three of his lieutenants, are being held without bail on a direct charge of homicide in connection with the murder on Friday night of Frederick Strauss, a prominent German politician. A bullet fired by members of Fein's gang at an enemy struck Strauss as he was passing a hall where the gangsters and their friends were holding a dance.

Cold Storage Men Repudiate Blame.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—Cold storage plant magnates, with press agents and lawyers, are in Washington clamoring for an opportunity to prove to the House committee on interstate and foreign commerce, that refrigerated storage of eatables has nothing to do with the high cost of living. They came to Washington confident they would be heard to-day, but the committee has put the bill introduced by Representative Mackellar, on which hearings were to be heard into storage for at least a month.

A Safeguard.

"But you don't speak the language of the country in which you desire a diplomatic position."

"Well," replied the determined applicant, "a man isn't nearly so liable to make indiscreet remarks if he has to get a lexicon and look up the meaning of every word he utters."

Quick Change.

"Who," she asked, "is that scrawny, bowlegged, ridiculous looking person talking to Miss Rockingham?"

"That is Count Brisczpicknitzel."

"Oh! What an aristocratic, noble bearing he seems to have now that he has shifted his position so that the light strikes him properly!"

Right In His Line.

"Yes," said Mrs. Twickembury. "I've had a good deal of trouble with my eyes lately, but the other day I went to an optician, and he told me that he thought they'd soon be all right again."

A FEW HINTS

SOME THINGS PREMIER BORDEN MIGHT PUT INTO THE SPEECH FROM THE THRONE.

There are a good many things to which Premier Borden might refer in the Speech from the Throne when Parliament meets on the 15th. He might inform the House why for nearly a year he has neglected the fulfilment of his repeated promises to promptly appeal to the country if Parliament refused him such aid as he might demand to tide the Empire over his imaginary crisis. He might tell Parliament why for months he has neglected the demands from Grain Growers, from consumers and from such prominent grain dealers as Mr. James Carruthers of Montreal for free wheat and flour to give Canadian wheat free access to the American market. He might give the country an explanation of the conspiracy exposed last June by Mr. Henri Bourassa when he unfolded the secret arrangement by which the Imperialist Tories behind Mr. Borden financed the campaign of the Nationalists of Quebec behind Mr. Bourassa, in order to defeat the Laurier Government by any means, fair or foul.

Mr. Borden might explain why he has countenanced electoral corruption whenever it would help his own party and favoured such abuse of the election courts as that by which Mr. Morrison represented Macdonald for a whole session, when everyone knew his seat had been stolen. Mr. Borden might give passing reference to the Prince Albert Land Deal, the Dorval Military site scandal, the Gimli Park steal, and the other disgraceful deals which have been aired during the year.

This would naturally lead the way to an explanation why after promising that if he became leader of the Government he would not let a day pass before he took measures to give the Western Provinces control of their natural resources, Mr. Borden has allowed over two years to pass and has done nothing. He might reply to paid to Mr. James Morris who was elected in Chateauguay by outrageous corruption and is only able to take his seat because the Government lawyers invoked sufficient technicalities to delay his election trial until after the session.

Mr. Borden might then make reference to the disastrous coal strike which has been going on for over a year, with the militia called out for months, while the Minister of Labour has done nothing except make matters worse and justify the title he gave himself as "Minister of Play." A natural reference might be made to the same Minister's pious hope that Canada should have a year or two of hard times as a cure for the high cost of living, with an explanation of why the Government, after refusing to even consider a commission to inquire into the high cost of living, suddenly appointed a departmental commission with such restricted powers that it could hardly make any report that would not serve as Government ammunition. Should Mr. Borden then insert a statement of the number of Liberal Civil Servants dismissed since October, 1911, with the number of decapitated Postmasters it would prove interesting, together with an estimate of the cost of the innumerable commissions whose reports Hon. Mr. Foster recently declared were generally "shelved and forgotten."

Premier Borden might give much valuable information to the public on these subjects. It is not likely he will refer to any of them. In his speech from the throne last year the merest reference was made to the work of the session, and it is probable the same course will be pursued this year, the Government, as usual, awaiting Liberal action before shaping its course. In the meantime the inspired Conservative organs announce that up to date the Government has not decided whether it will cling to the emergency and introduce any naval legislation this session; that at last the Redistribution Bill will be produced, and that a quantity of legislation of minor importance is well advanced. It is announced, however, that the estimates in which the spendthrifts of the Government are particularly interested will be ready as soon as Parliament is in shape to vote the money.

A CHANGED MAN.

In laying down his Halifax platform on August 21st, 1907, Mr. Borden said: "Shall our advent to power mean no more than a mere party triumph? Are the experiences of the past ten possible Liberal from the Civil Service and fill them with Conservatives; i.e. approved such "indecent public appointments" as that of the Hon. A. B. Morine to the Chairmanship of the Public Enquiry Commission, which was so bad that on the publication of Mr. Morine's record he was compelled to resign. As to "robbery of the public assets" Mr. Borden has defended the Prince Albert land deal, which robbed the public domain of $350,000, the Dorval military site deal, which took nearly $100,000 out of the public, the Gimli land sale which gave to a party friend land worth $15,000 for $750 and a host of similar transactions. Premier Borden has yet to show any "unspeakable aversion" for the task before him, even with such allies as Hon. Robert Rogers, Hon. Dr. Reid and Hon. L. P. Pelletier."

CUSTOMS RECEIPTS DROP.

REDUCED COLLECTIONS INDICATE REACTION FROM LIBERAL PROSPERITY.

Since September last the results of Conservative administration have been very marked in Canada. During the fifteen years of Liberal administration Canada's revenue from taxes, chiefly derived from Customs tariff, and therefore indicative of the state of trade, increased from $28,648,626 to $105,847,804. This progression continued for some time after the Borden Government came to power, but gradually decreased. By September last the turn of the tide was reached. During September, October and November, the Customs Revenue for the first time in many years, showed a decrease, dropping by $2,631,034 from the receipts of the same period for 1912. In December there was another drop of $901,175, making a total decrease, for the 4 months of $3,532,200. This made the total Customs Revenue for the 9 months of the present fiscal year $84,278,786, as compared with $85,291,039 for the corresponding period of 1912, a decrease of $1,012,253. There is every prospect that this decrease will continue. During 1912 the Customs Revenue showed an increase of approximately $16,000,000 over that of 1911. Had this rate of increase been kept up, the Customs receipts for the 9 months of this year would have shown an increase of $12,000,000. Under Conservative administration the country is $13,000,000 poorer than it would have been had the Liberal rate of increase been kept up, and the Customs tariff is only a fraction indicative of the general setback that has come over Canada's affairs since the Borden Government assumed office.

STRATHCONA'S ADVICE.

HIS CAUTION WOULD SAVE CANADA FROM FINANCIAL DEGRADATION.

In his annual message to Canada, Lord Strathcona advised caution all around, and said, "Canadians should be more careful than ever of the position of the Dominion in the financial market. Greater regard must be paid to the investor than is always shown to him."

This admonition is timely, coming after the last Canadian loan of $20,000,000 at 4 per cent issued at 97 of which 87 per cent was left on the hands of the underwriters, and which was described in the British press as the most spectacular failure on the financial market for many years. It was the failure of this loan which led the London Post to criticise Hon. Mr. White's financial methods as calculated to hide from the investors Canada's real financial position.

The result of the Borden Government's neglect of Lord Strathcona's advice is that Canada's rate of interest has gone up from 3½ per cent to nearly 4½ per cent. Where the last Fielding loan at 2½ per cent stood 4 points

Many kinds of leather are got sea creatures, some of which are curious and beautiful. The sk sharks, says The Youth's Comp is a beautiful burnished gray or ish color. This would naturally lead the way to an explanation why after promising that if he became leader of the Government he would not let a day pass before he took measures to give the Western Provinces control of their natural resources, Mr. Borden has allowed over two years to pass and has done nothing. He might reply to the demands made on December 22nd last by the Premiers of Saskatchewan, Alberta and Manitoba that he implement his promises in this regard. A passing compliment might then be

A CHANGED MAN.

PREMIER BORDEN NO LONGER OBJECTS TO "DEGRADING DETAILS AND BROKEN PLEDGES."

In laying down his Halifax platform on August 21st, 1907, Mr. Borden said: "Shall our advent to power mean no more than a mere party triumph? Are the experiences of the past ten years to be repeated in all their degrading details of broken pledges, opportunist policy, stolen elections, indecent public appointments, and robbing of public assets? Those who know me best know how little I have desired a public career; and if I thought such an outcome possible I would turn with unspeakable aversion from the task before me."

Yet this same Mr. Borden as Premier has neglected every pledge he made in that Halifax platform. He has countenanced the opportunist policy which dictated the secret alliance of the Imperialist Tories and the Quebec Nationalists; he has approved of such stolen elections as Macdonald, Chateau-guay and Hochelaga; he has approved the scramble to dismiss every

the most spectacular failure on the financial market for many years. It was the failure of this loan which led the London Post to criticise Hon. Mr. White's financial methods as calculated to hide from the investors Canada's real financial position.

The result of the Borden Government's neglect of Lord Strathcona's advice is that Canada's rate of interest has gone up from 3½ per cent to nearly 4½ per cent. Where the last Fielding loan at 3½ per cent stood 6 points above corresponding Western Australia stock, now Western Australia 4 per cents recently issued at 97, stand at a premium of 2, while an exactly similar Canadian loan is at ½ discount. Canada badly needs the experienced hands of a Fielding to take care of her finances before they become wrecked by the incautious experiments of Hon. Mr. White, and the extravagance of his colleagues.

LIVING TO BE STILL DEARER.

A further rise in the cost of living is anticipated before spring. Discussing the Christmas markets, the Ottawa Free Press recently said, "In less than a month from now the price of beef is going up. There will be a shortage of beef resulting from the exportation of hundreds of cars of steers to the United States. The removal of the American tariff has caused this."

This is how Canadians are realizing the effects of the Underwood tariff which Tory orators told them was to give Canada more than she ever could have got from reciprocity. From every side comes evidence that the Underwood tariff is giving cheaper living to the Americans and dearer food to the Canadians. Meanwhile high taxes continue on all food imported into Canada, and will until a Liberal Government gives the people free food.

FARMERS ARE INDIGNANT.

DENOUNCE INCREASING ELECTION CORRUPTION UNDER ROGERS REGIME.

Amongst the resolutions considered by the Grain Growers' convention at Brandon, Man., this week was this—

"That this convention views with alarm the increasing corruption in elections, both Federal and Provincial and hereby express their indignation and condemnation of such practices, and demand that the law bearing upon elections be so changed that the parties proved guilty can be adequately punished."

It is evident that these Manitoba farmers had in mind the Macdonald infamies and the Gimli corruption. More than two years after Premier Borden came to office these grain growers have found such a resolution necessary. Mr. Borden made it a main plank of his Halifax platform, to put an immediate end to election corruption, and appoint a public prosecutor to punish election wrongdoing. Premier Borden has been perfectly content to profit by any electoral corruption that will win ridings for his party, and instead of appointing a public prosecutor, has countenanced the engaging of counsel to defend the election crooks who worked for his party.

There is found in Turkish a strikingly unattractive fish called angel fish, classed among the lit sharks. This fish yields an extreme high quality of green leather, esteemed in the Ottoman dominions.

In Russia certain peasant coats are trimmed with the skins of a fish, the turbot, and in Egypt wear sandals made from the skin of fish caught in the Red Sea. In our own country, too, the cod has been used in a similar manner, for it goes days a good many shoes gloves have been made in Gloucester from the skin of the humble cod. Eelskin is useful for many poses, among them the manufacture of leather binding for books and braiding into whips.

Gibraltar Has Red Rain.

A curious phenomenon was witnessed at Gibraltar recently. A coppery masses of cloud sud shrouded the heavens over the and surrounding bay. Then a shower of rain, the color of red mud, fell, leaving a pinkish stain many parts of the town.

Following the red rain a y rainstorm was experienced. V arriving there reported having the same phenomenon. The inhabitants depend on rainwater for drinking purposes and concern is expressed regarding the sediment in tanks.

It is conjectured that in a storm in the neighboring Al wilds particles of sand had been carried into the air and that the with the rain.

Taste and Temperature.

The sense of taste resides in flask shaped pockets embedded in the skin of the surface of the tongue in the upper part of the throat. Each of these bulbs has a fibril of nerve connecting it with the larger mass of its region. Anything to be tasted must be in a dissolved or gaseous condition so as to reach the interior of the bulbs, and differences in taste depend upon the varying intensity which the impression is transmitted through the nerves. It is not surprising, then, that taste is much influenced by temperature and is temporarily stopped by extreme heat or cold. The sense of taste is strongest at a temperature between 50 and 60 degrees F.

Voices Heard From Airship

We wonder how many realize the extraordinary extent to which it is possible to hear from an airship at night. A man snoring in bed can actually be heard from great altitude, and at 4,000 feet says a pilot, it is possible to "people talking, dogs, sheep, wheels, tramway cars, troops marching, transport, artillery, cavalry, and all without training." For various purposes, aerial craft, even in the present stage of their development must thus be most extraordinarily valuable.—London Globe.

HOW WOMEN OF OTHER RACES
BEAUTIFY THEMSELVES.

Long Eyebrows and Finger Nails Enhance the Attractiveness of the Chinese Belle, While a Big Hole in the Ear Does the Same for the Burmese Miss—Brass Tubing and Rods Are Chic in Paloung.

There is nothing in which women are more united than the desire to be beautiful, and as a consequence many members of the fair sex attempt to increase their personal charm by artificial means, says a writer in London Ideas. Specially is this so in foreign countries, and the man who takes a trip round the globe will come to the conclusion that beauty is seldom skin deep, and even in those parts of the hemispheres where civilization takes a back seat.

They are waking up a bit in China and pigtails are fast going out of fashion, but as likely as not the girls there will continue to compress their feet. If you were to invite one to Come and trip it as you go

On the light, fantastic toe

you would find that such a feat would be a physical impossibility with her. Nevertheless her poor deformed feet are still compared by her own countrymen to "Golden Lilies." In order to add attraction to her face the Chinese Miss continually plucks here eyebrows so that they may grow in length and spread but little, and she will allow her finger-nails to grow to a monstrous length if she has any social standing to speak of.

In order to appear beautiful to the eyes of the men-folk the Burmah girl must have her ears bored. When she is quite young her mother gives a party, and all the guests look on while the girl is thrown to the ground and a golden wire thrust through the lobe of each ear and twisted into a ring. As soon as the wound is healed a bigger wire is put in, and this is followed by a bigger one, until the hole becomes as large in circumference as a man's thumb. Then a plug of gold or silver is put into the ear, and is worn there afterwards as an ornament.

The Paloung canon of beauty decrees that each female who wishes to be a la mode must be decorated about the neck and limbs with thick coils of brass tubing or rods. This is begun in early girlhood. The father of the girl lays her upon the ground, and taking hold of a length of tubing, hammers it into shape on neck and limbs, round and round until it resembles a gigantic spring. Fresh coils are added at various intervals.

To be considered a Tahitian beauty a lady must have a long nose, and in order to produce an elongated organ of smell she compresses it with wooden contrivances. The Hottentot lady, on the other hand, must have a broad, flat nose if she wishes to be considered pretty.

In some parts of the world the shape of the head is of the utmost importance, and the ladies will compress it into all manner of shapes. The females of Arakhan must, to be beautiful, have broad, smooth, flat foreheads, so when baby girls are born a plate of lead is tied to the head and kept there until the forehead is flatter than a pancake.

An Arabian baby girl, on the

WONDREUL SOLDIER DOGS.

Which the German Army Finds Quite Indispensable.

There is in Germany a regular dog corps for service in time of war. Although these soldier dogs do not shoot guns or fire cannons, there are duties for them to perform that are quite as important as carrying arms. Most of the dog corps are composed entirely of Pomeranians or Spitzers, and these are mostly white in color. Occasionally a gray dog is chosen on account of his color, for he can escape more easily than a white dog, though even the white dogs are not likely to stay white in time of war. Each dog is equipped with a light but strong metal collar and a pouch for letters.

The soldier dog is given a peculiar education and it is given with regularity and care. First of all, the dog is taught to recognize men by their uniforms and is carefully taught the difference between the uniforms of Germany and those of foreign countries. Then he is taught the uniforms of the officers of the German army. This is done by patient and regular training.

After he has mastered the uniforms of the various armies the soldier dog is taught how to tell his

A young Welshman applied to the head of a big drapery firm in London for a job. "Where do you come from?" he was asked. "From Llan-pumpsaint." "What may that name mean?" "It means the place of the five saints," was the ready answer. "Are there five saints there still?" "There are only four since I left," said the young Welshman. As the head of the firm came from the same neighborhood, the young man got the situation.—London Mail.

Comets.

Statistics collected by Borrelly, the French astronomer, show that since the sixteenth century 376 comets have been discovered, of which 106 were periodic and 19 have been seen at more than one return and 56 have been visible to the naked eye, with 7 that could be seen in full daylight. Nearly two-thirds of the discoveries appear to have been made in the morning before sunrise, more than half in the second half of the year. The French observatories have led in discoveries, 67 of the comets having been first detected at Marseilles and 46 at Paris, but only 16 at Geneva, which has the next highest record; 15 at Florence and 14 at the Lick observatory.

Then a heavy rain fell, the color of reddish brown, leaving a pinkish stain in parts of the town. Following the red rain a yellow storm was experienced. Vessels lying there reported having noted the same phenomenon. The inhabitants depend on rainwater for drinking purposes and concern is expressed regarding the sediment in the water.

It is conjectured that in a sand-bath in the neighboring African particles of sand had been gath-ered into the air and that they fell like rain.

Taste and Temperature.

The sense of taste resides in little hinged pockets embedded in the surface of the tongue and upper part of the throat. Each of these bulbs has a fibril of a nerve running it with the larger nerves region. Anything to be tasted is dissolved or gaseous so as to reach the interior of the bulbs, and differences in taste depend on the varying intensity with which the impression is transmitted to the nerves. It is not surprising, then, that taste is much influenced by temperature and may be stopped by extreme cold. The sense of taste is at its best at a temperature between 60 degrees F.

A Trade In Mummified Cats.

There were 180,000 cats mummified in the hope of nine blessed hereafter, once found by a laborer who dropped into a pit at Bem Hassen, about 100 miles from Cairo. At the bottom of the pit he discovered that he had chanced upon a cat cemetery. An Alexandrine speculator brought the lot, for the Levantine merchant will traffic in anything. He shipped them in the steamers Pharos and Thebes, consigned to order in Liverpool. Here they were sold at auction by Leventon & Co., being knocked down in ton lots at a figure that averaged 20 cats for a penny. The ultimate utilization of the sacred animals was to enrich the English fields.

Slighted His Chance.

At a singing contest at Frankfort, Kaiser Wilhelm, who attended, was served by several high school boys as pages. According to Jugend, he was attracted by the bright face of one of them and asked his name. "Korner, your majesty," said the boy.

"And your first name is Theodore?" said the emperor, thinking of the patriot poet Theodore Korner, whose war songs stirred Germany.

"I'm sorry," replied the uncourtier-like youngster, "but it's only Wilhelm."

When Kaiser Wilhelm broke into a hearty laugh at the answer the page realized his missed opportunity.

Her Little Confidence Game.

"We're playing railroad train," she said as she pulled her father's paper away, "and I'm the conductor. Tickets, please."

He took a card from his pocket and handed it to her. She looked at it intently for a minute and then handed it back. "That was issued yesterday," she said, "and isn't good to-day. You'll have to pay cash or get off the train."

He gave her a dime. He knew he had been "worked," but what else could he do?

Businesslike Father.

"Father always spoils everything," said Miss Gladys Cumrox tearfully. "I'll never again tell him when anybody proposes to me."

"What has he done?" "When Baron Fucash asked for my hand I told him to ask father. And when he called father looked through a card index and said: 'There are three ahead of you, but I don't think any of them will suit. Come around next Thursday.'"

Dance Names.

The word "quadrille" is derived from the position of the dancers, the French word "quadrille" meaning a little square. "Country dance" does not mean a rustic dance, but is a corruption of the French term contredanse, which relates to the position of the couples—opposite to each other.—London Globe.

wishes to be considered pretty. In some parts of the world the shape of the head is of the utmost importance, and the ladies will compress it into all manner of shapes. The females of Arakhan must, to be beautiful, have broad, smooth, flat foreheads, so when baby girls are born a plate of lead is tied to the head and kept there until the forehead is flatter than a pancake.

An Arabian baby girl, on the seventh day after birth, has six holes bored in her ears, and when she is two months' old heavy gold rings are attached to them, which she is to wear throughout her lifetime.

The mutilation of the teeth is observed by many races. The female members of the Sunda Islanders blacken all their teeth, but two with burred cocoanut, while the two expected teeth are either pulled out and their place taken by gold ones or covered with plates of gold. The ladies of the Malay Archipelago file their teeth into points like those of a saw, and Arabian women not only file their teeth but color them, and stain their lips blue and their fingers and toes red.

In some of the islands of the Pacific the ladies are not considered fashionable unless they wear clothing of mulberry bark, which they beat with mallets and wash until all the soft parts of its substance have been taken out of it, leaving the textile portion only. A piece of any size can be made by hammering the edges of many pieces together, and if neatly done the joins are not perceptible. Among the wealthy islanders it is the custom for a woman to wear a piece of mulberry bark as much as 30 or 40 feet in length, and this she wraps round her body in the manner of a robe.

Using an Old Device.

The modern world is rediscovering the device of pouring oil upon the waves, which, scholars tell us, was known to Aristotle and practiced by Pliny. Prof. Ray Lankester says that so small a quantity as a pint an hour is sufficient to secure a zone of calm round a ship, so that boats can be launched in safety. It is not improbable that oil will be carried for this purpose hereafter.

Recognized.

Merchant—Have you collected that bill of Smith's?

Collector—Have I collected it? I called at the house and found that seven Smiths lived there. Six declared they owed nothing, and the seventh kicked me out of the house.

Merchant—That's the one. Go back and get the money.—London Telegraph.

Well Powdered.

Jack—I hear that Mabel is an occasional contributor to magazines.

Edith—Judging from the quantities of powder she is purchasing, I should think she is the chief of ordnance.

is taught to recognize men by their uniforms and is carefully taught the difference between the uniforms of Germany and those of foreign countries. Then he is taught the uniforms of the officers of the German army. This is done by patient and regular training.

After he has mastered the uniforms of the various armies the soldier dog is taught how to tell his master of the approach of an enemy or friend or of any other unusual discovery he may make.

His next step in education is the delivering of letters. These letters are placed in his pouch and the soldier dog runs from post to post delivering them. He is taught to know many other posts besides his own, to recognize them by name, to take a pouch full of letters to any post designated, to deliver them to an officer, to wait for a reply, and to return to his own post. After he can do this satisfactorily and without error he is "graduated" into a higher class and his education is partially completed.

The next lesson of the soldier dog is to look after the wounded. He is taught to discover wounded soldiers, to take water to them, and to tell superior officers of his discovery. He is also taught to take care of stragglers of the regiment. After this and after he knows whom to and whom not to obey, his education is completed and he is a real "soldier" and is assigned to a regiment.

Lived to Fight Another Day.

Frederick the Great lost his head at Moltwitz, his first battle. Had he not been a king he would have been shot at the next sunrise. In the heat of the carnage he thought his army was being overwhelmed, so he put the spurs to his horse and rode many miles before he stopped in his wild flight. Late at night he was discovered in an old mill awaiting, as he thought, capture by the enemy. Then he discovered that the army he deserted had won the battle. As Frederick was a prince, everybody tried to forget the incident just as quickly as possible, and after that in battle the king was just as brave as any other soldier.

Sympathy For the Minister.

A minister recently told this story on himself: One of his first sermons, which he thought an excellent one, was preached in his home church and, seeking a compliment from a prominent member, to draw him out spoke disparagingly of it to him. "Oh, well," was the response, we all knew that you were not feeling well this morning."—Congregationalist.

"Isn't Percy Greener the most polite man you ever knew? He'll go out of his way any time to say sweet things about people."

"Yes, but I don't believe he's at all sincere."

"Of course he isn't. Why, only yesterday he told me what a perfect figure you had."

A Protracted Service.

They must have long church services in a certain town where a paper announced of a certain church, "The regular services will commence next Sunday at 3 p.m. and continue until further notice."

A White Jackjaw.

A jackjaw, pure white all over, including the beak and legs, has been shot on Mr. Buckenham's farm, The Firth, Billerica.

Helping the Consumptives.

The Treasurer of the Muskoka Free Hospital for Consumptives has received a check for $250 from Mr. W. S. Detlor, of Napanee, being annual payment for the endowment of the "W. T. Detlor Memorial Bed."

Price of Eggs.

The price of eggs has reached such a high figure that it is very important to all poultrymen to give poultry every care in order to produce best results. Royal Purple poultry specific has proved by tests to be the best on the market as an egg producer. Sold in 25c, 50c, $1.00 and $1.50 packages at Wallace's, Ltd., agents for Napanee. N. B.—Use Royal Purple Roup Cure for roup, it is the best.

C. N. RAILWAY

The Canadian Northern Ontario Railway Company have started their through freight service, Toronto to Ottawa and expect in a few days to commence a passenger service. The company think it will be in the interests of all places along its route to inaugurate a passenger service as quickly as possible but do not expect to be able for a time to give such a service as they intend doing a little later when the road is completed in the first class manner they intend it to be. Superintendent Sherwood advises, the town will be pleased at arrangement of local and through service, and says that the C. N. O. Ry. are anxious to secure all possible business, and to so adjust service both passenger and freight as to make the people feel they are here as co-operators in friendliest way. If this is the spirit of the company, then we can most assuredly congratulate ourselves, and pass along to them all the business we can. Mr H. B. Sherwood says without hesitation, that we should assist the company in a business way as much as possible, as the company requires all we can give them and he says that we may feel assured of their co-operation. After his long services with the Bay of Quinte Railway Company, Mr. Sherwood is pleased to think the Canadian Northern Ontario Railway are anxious to keep up the old effort to make the County of Lennox and Addington feel they will continue in sympathy with it people.

NAPANEE PUBLIC LIBRARY ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Napanee Public Library was held in the Library building on January 12th. Four members were present.

The minutes of the last annual meeting were read and confirmed.

The Treasurer's annual statement was read and as his books having been properly audited and found correct, the statement was ordered filed as rendered.

The annual election of a Board of Management for the year 1914 was then held and resulted in the election of the following members: Messrs. Herrington, Leonard, Miller, Robinson, Deroche, Checkley and Warner.

There being no other business the meeting then adjourned.

At a meeting of the Board of Governors held subsequent to the annual meeting the following officers were elected for the year 1914:

President—W. S. Herrington, K. C. Sec-Treas—C. M. Warner.

The following Reading Committee was then elected: Miss Lineau, Mrs. Ward, Mrs. Hogan, Mrs. Richardson and Messrs. Travers, Taylor and McLean.

There was considerable discussion with regard to the best method to adopt to increase the stack room in the library and upon motion it was voted to give the President authority to build additional shelves in the reading room.

THE MARKETS

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—Sudden cold, which threatened to kill unprotected fall-sown wheat, carried prices today substantially higher. Most of the advance was held, the market closing steady at a gain of 1/4c to 3/4c. Corn closed the same as Saturday night to 1/4c above; oats dearer by 1-16c to 1/4c, and provisions virtually unchanged.

OUR BODIES ARE GOD'S TEMPLES

Anything Done to Injure God's Workmanship Would be Sin.

The Unregenerate—Their Privileges —"If the Spirit of God Dwell In You"—Greater Privileges—Greater Responsibilities—Greater Honors and Glories—Saved to Human Perfection.

Providence, R. I., Jan. 11.—Pastor Russell preached here today. His text was, "If any man defile the temple of God, him shall God destroy; for the temple of God is holy, which temple ye are."—1 Corinthians 3:17.

The Pastor declared that this Scripture could not be applied indiscriminately to all men. Only the Church are the Temple of God in the sense the Apostle here mentions; for only such as have been regenerated, or begotten of the Holy Spirit, sons of God. These have received a new life, and are Scripturally described as "New Creatures in Christ." These have entered into a covenant with God through the merit of Jesus, who imputes His righteousness to them, justifying them freely from their unintentional imperfections and weaknesses.

Then the Pastor pointed out the distinction between these spirit-begotten New Creatures and the remainder of mankind, however just and well-intentioned. He showed that ordinarily we do not speak of humanity apart from their bodies; for, cut off from the body, they would be dead. We speak of such separation as dissolution. As the union of life (vitality) with organism (body) forms the soul, or sentient being, so their separation causes the soul to cease. Death would be the end of humanity, had not God provided for the redemption of the race, and its restitution by resurrection. Restitution will be merely a bringing back of that which death is now destroying—human, or earthly, being.

Next the speaker showed that anything done, either deliberately or carelessly, to injure God's workmanship would be sin. There is a Divine Law to the effect that whoever sins shall suffer. Whoever defiles his body, either by impure thoughts, angry thoughts, malicious thoughts, or by misusing it contrary to Divine arrangement, or by drinking or by gluttony, is defiling the temple of his own soul—the work of God.

Every vile thought or act, every pandering to appetite, is sure to bring depravity of body or mind or both; and depravity, he claimed, is death at work. Unless such depravity be overcome through Christ, the end will be everlasting death, in harmony with the Scripture, "The soul that sinneth, it shall die."

The same principle, said the Pastor, applies to all who do evil to others, either by poisoning their minds or their morals, or by injuring their physical system. Such do

funeral of the late Chas. Ward, and respected resident of this town, was held at his home last day afternoon. The house was filled with mourners. After the service remains were conveyed to the Napanee market. Mr. Ward suffered rheumatism several years. For years he had been a prominent man on the Napanee market every day, and was known by hundreds of farmers and townspeople who did business with him in his capacity as agent and demonstrator of the man pumps, from the time of his inception up to about four or five years ago, when he was forced to leave business on account of his ill-health. He is survived by wife and one daughter, Mrs. J. Baker, of Moscow.

The following reading committee was then elected: Miss Lineau, Mrs. Ward, Mrs. Hogan, Mrs. Richardson and Messrs. Travers, Taylor and McLean.

There was considerable discussion with regard to the best method to adopt to increase the stock room in the library and upon motion it was voted to give the President authority to build additional shelves in the reading room.

The meeting then adjourned.

THE CANDLING OF EGGS.

As regards quality, an egg is one of the most difficult of food products to grade. Fortunately an egg is semi-transparent when held before the light and permits, if carefully rotated, of even minor defects being seen. Many appliances for commercial and private use have been invented for the detection of bad eggs, and it is now possible for anyone with a little practice to tell at a glance the main points between good and bad eggs.

In order to teach the proper methods of examination, there has been prepared, under the direction of the Live Stock Commissioner, a pamphlet entitled "The Candling of Eggs," by W. A. Brown, B. S. A., Chief of the Poultry Division. This pamphlet, which is No. 3 of the Live Stock Division, points out clearly that the size of the air cell, the consistency of the albumen, the color and mobility of the yolk, and the general transparency of the whole egg are the factors most generally recognized as determining the quality. It also explains the construction of a simple home-made device which gives excellent satisfaction in the testing of eggs.

This pamphlet, which can be secured by making application to the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, concludes with the following paragraph:—"Storekeepers will find it to their advantage to acquire facility in candling and it is recommended that every housewife should provide herself with a simple candling appliance, by the diligent use of which she may safeguard her family from many unpleasant occurrences at the breakfast table."

LARGER YIELDS PER COW.

During these short winter days when the cows are dry, and the cows that are milking are not giving very much, would it not be wise to lay plans for improvement of the dairy herd? Seeing that the average household consumes a fair quantity of milk daily all through winter, and seeing that the ice cream trade is not by any means dead during the cold months, is it not a pity that there is not more good milk and sweet cream available? Current prices and good demand should prove an inducement to a larger number of producers to go in more strongly for winter dairying.

Some of the variations in yields are very marked; it is a common thing month after month to find groups of cows in four adjacent sections averaging one hundred pounds of milk difference, for instance, from 450 by even stages of 100 up to 750 pounds. Many of these poor cows could easily be giving, under better conditions of feed and care, another three or four pounds of fat each per month; after a year or two at cow testing the herd will probably average, as many have already done, considerably more of an increase than that, even as much as forty or forty-five pounds in the year extra per cow. Those farmers who desire increases are invited to write to the dairy commissioner, Ottawa, to ascertain what assistance is given by the department of agriculture in organizing cow testing associations.

We have the purest grade of imported olive oil in bottles from 25c to $1.00 also in quarts, half gallon and gallon cans. Everything fresh and good at Wallace's, Napanee's Leading Drug Store.

The sheep and lamb trade was active. Sheep, ewes, $6.25 to $6.60; rams, $5 to $5.50; culls, $2 to $4; lambs, $9 to $9.35.

Hogs

Hogs, selects, fed and watered, sold at $9 to $9.10.

MONTREAL LIVE STOCK.

MONTREAL, Jan. 12.—Trade was good today at the local stock yards for butchers' cattle. The majority of shipments were received before the storm began to interrupt traffic. Some, however, did not arrive until quite late on that account. Receipts on the market at the West End Stock Yards were 900 cattle, 2500 sheep and lambs, 2600 hogs and 150 calves.

A good quality of beef was offered. Butchers' bulls were slightly easier on large receipts. Other prices held steady. A large shipment of western hogs, consisting of 8 car loads, was received, and tended to keep the live pork prices down. Prices for selects eased off 25c, as the shipment of western selected hogs sold lower by that margin.

Sheep were offered freely and the price was easy. The undertone to the market for lambs was also easy and demand light. Prices ranged between 4½c to 7½c per pound. A fair demand for calves held prices very steady. Quotations:

Good bulls, $7 to $7.25; choice butchers' cattle, $7.25 to $7.50; fair butchers' cattle, $6.75 to $7; medium butchers' cattle, $7.25 to $7.50; butchers' cows, good, $6.75 to $7; fair, $6.25 to $6.50; bulls, $4 to $6.75; feeding steers, $5.25 to $5.50; butchers' steers, $4.50 to $5; hogs, fed and watered, $9.50 to $9.75; sows, $7.50; stags, $5; calves, $3 to $15.

EAST BUFFALO LIVE STOCK.

EAST BUFFALO, Jan. 12.—Cattle—Receipts, 4500; fairly active; good to choice steady; common 10c to 15c lower; prime steers, $8.75 to $9.60; shipping, $8 to $8.65; butchers, $7 to $8.40; heifers, $6 to $7; cows, $3.60 to $7.25; bulls, $5.40 to $5.50; stockers and feeders, $5.50 to $7; stock heifers, $5.25 to $5.75; fresh cows and springers steady, $35 to $90.

Hogs—Receipts, 25,000; 15c lower; heavy mixed and yorkers, $8.45 to $8.50; pigs, $8.25 to $8.40; roughs, $7.50 to $7.65; stags, $6 to $7.65; dairies, $8.35 to $9.50.

Sheep and Lambs—Receipts, 18,000; active; mixed sheep, 15c higher; others steady; lambs, $5.50 to $8.40; yearlings, $5 to $7.25; wethers, $5.75 to $6.25; ewes, $3 to $5.75; sheep, mixed, $5.75 to $6.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK.

CHICAGO, Jan. 12.—Cattle—Receipts, 9000; market, irregular; beefs, $6.65 to $9.40; Texas steers, $6.85 to $8; stockers and feeders, $5 to $7.60; cows and heifers, $6.40 to $8.40; calves, $7.50 to $11.75.

Hogs—Receipts, 48,000; market, weak; light, $7.95 to $8.20; mixed, $8 to $8.30; heavy, $8 to $8.35; rough, $8 to $8.10; pigs, $6.75 to $7.95; bulk of sales, $8.10 to $9.30.

Sheep—Receipts, 48,000; market, mostly 10c to 15c lower; native, $4.85 to $6.10; yearlings, $5.90 to $7.10; lambs, native, $6.75 to $8.25.

Would Abolish Hanging.

Burnham, M.P., of Peterboro, will reintroduce his bill to abolish honorary titles in Canada now granted on recommendation of the Governor-General-in-Council.

Broken Rail Wrecks Train.

ST. CATHARINES, Jan. 13.—A broken rail on the Welland division of the Grand Trunk caused the derailment of 25 cars of a 30-car train near Allanburg, several cars being smashed and traffic delayed until last night. The crew escape injury.

CAPTURING ZANZIBAR.

Serie Comic Battle That Deposed the Gay Sultan.

Zanzibar reminds every visitor of the towns described in "The Arabian Nights." It is a typical Arabian town, and there seems to be a mystery and a romance behind every door. The town was ruled for hundreds of years by a sultan until the English took charge.

There is still a sultan, who receives a salary from the English government, but some day he will be deposed.

both; and depravity, he claimed, is death at work. Unless such depravity be overcome through Christ, the end will be everlasting death, in harmony with the Scripture, "The soul that sinneth, it shall die."

The same principle, said the Pastor, applies to all who do evil to others, either by poisoning their minds or their morals, or by injuring their physical system. Such do violence to God's work, and degrade their own manhood. The operation of Divine Law will surely bring punishments, which unheeded will ultimately bring death—"everlasting destruction."

We may warn every man along the broad Biblical line, "Whoever sows to the flesh—to sin, selfishness meanness—to the fallen propensities—anger, malice, envy, hatred, strife, evil speaking etc.—will be sure to reap correspondingly bitter experiences. This way, persisted in, will finally bring him to the Second Death. God has no gift of eternal life for those who love sin."

God's Temple the Church.

The Pastor then briefly reviewed Israel's wilderness experiences. When God entered into covenant relationship with the Israelites, He manifested Himself by the Shekinah Glory, which shone out from between the Cherubim covering the Mercy Seat in the Tabernacle. The Israelites drew near to God through His appointed servants, Aaron and his sons, who had access to God's presence.

The Tabernacle was therefore the temple of God, but it was merely a tent. After the dedication of Solomon's Temple, God appeared there instead of in the Tabernacle, and manifested His presence in the same manner.

Then the Pastor explained fully that the Church is God's antitypical Temple; but that, as St. Peter points out, it is not yet constructed as a Temple. Each consecrated child of God, begotten of the Holy Spirit, is a living stone in preparation for a place in that glorious Temple, soon to be constructed. These living stones are God's workmanship. He works in them by the Spirit of Truth; and by His providences He shapes them, polishes them, develops their characters, and make them ready for the coming building.

This Master-workman always recognizes the free will of His people. He works in them only as they are willing, only in harmony with their prayers to be filled with His Spirit and to have His will done in them.

The Pastor believes St. Paul's thought in the text to be that wherever God may dwell is necessarily holy—His temple or His tabernacle; and that any wilful or intentional sin, depraving that temple or tabernacle, would be an offense against God. If Christians who have received the begetting of the Holy Spirit could but comprehend this lesson, it would have a powerful influence upon their lives!

TEST YOUR BAROMET

Air or Moisture in the Tube Will der It Unreliable.

Don't expect a barometer to tell the truth about the weather unless you have tested it thoroughly. Two common causes for unreliability are moisture and water mixed with the mercury in the tube. These can be expelled
by boiling the mercury.

In order to test a barometer, hang it for a time in the proper position, then gently and with care incline it that the mercury may strike the glass tube. If there is no air in it you will hear a sharp metallic
clink, but if the sound is dull and muffled
it indicates the presence of both air and moisture. The presence of air is shown by minute bubbles.

If at any time the mercury seems to adhere to the tube, even in the best degree, and the convex surface
assumes a more flattened form it then concludes that either air or moisture is present. In any of these cases the instrument should be put into hands for rectification.

There are several kinds of barometers. The ordinary "weather" barometer in common use is more or less liable and is easily made more reliable by careful handling. In fact, any barometer must be treated with great respect in order to retain its usefulness.
—Harper's Weekly.

The First False Teeth.

Until little more than a century ago, humanity had to rub along with false teeth, of which nowadays
Britain alone claims to sell over 1 million a year. The first successful dentist was Giossepangelo Fonzi, an Italian dentist, who started practice in 1798 and, thanks to his treatment of Lucien Bonaparte, made his way. After years of effort he discovered the substance from which artificial teeth are made and received the gold medal
from the French Academy of Science. One of the earliest persons fitted with teeth was the empress of Russia
after Waterloo Fonzi migrated to London and then to Madrid, where Ferdinand VII. rewarded him with a pension of 1,000 ducats for a false teeth.

BUILD OF THE BABY

Normal Weights and Measurements Up to Three Years of Age.

A baby should weigh at birth
pounds, at three months eleven pounds,
at five months fourteen pounds, at year twenty-one pounds, at two years twenty-six pounds and at three years thirty-one pounds. The length of a baby at birth should be twenty one-half inches, at three months
twenty-two inches, at five months
twenty-three and a half inches, at one year twenty-eight inches, at two years
thirty-two and a half inches and at three years thirty-five inches.

Its chest measure at birth should be thirteen and a half inches, at one year fourteen and a half inches,
at two years sixteen inches, at three years eighteen inches, at four years
nineteen inches and at five years
twenty inches.

Some babies are built very small, and, if well, even if below these figures, there is no cause for worry.

Town Council

The Streets Committee is the largest spending Committee of the controllable expenditure. During the last three or four years considerable work of a permanent character has been done in the way of constructing permanent tile sewers and cement walks, and there are a few sewers that are still urgently needed, and there are a number of walks that must be built during the coming summer. The Committee should decide as early as possible what sewers and what walks shall be undertaken, and I would recommend that stone and ballast for the contemplated work upon the new walks be drawn at once while the sleighing is good and labor is plentiful. These recent sewers and walks have been built under the Local Improvement System. This system may be cumbersome in working out all the details and in getting the assessment rolls for the same finally revised, yet this system appears to be the only feasible scheme the municipality has to finance these improvements.

You will also remember that the outfall sewer has yet to be disposed of, and I trust that it will be so settled as to be equitable and satisfactory, both to the property owners immediately interested, and to the ratepayers at large. The Camden Road sewer was completed in December last, but the assessment rolls for it have yet to be prepared, and the debentures floated to take up the temporary loan from the bank. This should be done as early as practicable as the clearing up of this debt may have a bearing upon our ability to make temporary loans for other contemplated Local Improvement Works.

Another feature of contemplated improvements you should also constantly bear in mind is that there is a very great stringency in the money market, so great in fact that all banks are advising municipalities to go slow in making improvements of any kind, for while we may be able to market our debentures, we are obliged to pay a seemingly exorbitant rate of interest.

The Printing and By-law Committee may have some work to do in respect to revising some of our by-laws which owing to recent changes in the Municipal Act requires to be made to conform to the provisions of the Statute.

The Police and Markets Committee have the care and enforcement of the town by-laws, and should see that there is a reasonable compliance with the by-laws so that the public may receive that protection which they expect and to which they are entitled.

In all reasonable probability the Dominion Government will build a new Drill Hall during this year upon the site recently deeded by the corporation. When this is constructed it will furnish in addition to its ordinary requirements for the use of the militia, a suitable public hall for large public gatherings. It is especially necessary since the unfortunate burning of the Opera House a few days ago, that the Armouries be constructed, and I would urge that the Department of Militia be communicated with at once. Possibly a scheme for another Opera House may be mooted during the coming year or an extension to the Town Hall in order that our citizens may be properly served by having a commodious hall for public entertainments.

I believe the dredging of the river is not quite satisfactory, and if this is the case some steps should be taken to have the work completed.

The matter of railway accommodation at the G. T. R. and C. N. R. stations may also be a subject for discussion and possibly the Council should urge the matter of a Union station for these two railways upon the companies, or even go so far as to bring the matter before the Board of Railway Commissioners in order to get the accommodation which we require. I believe the Canada Northern has also recently brought into effect a time table which discriminates against Napanee. In view of the large bonuses given by this corporation to the railways the burden of which is still upon us in the Railways debentures which are not yet all retired, the Town of Napanee should receive at least fair treatment. This may be a matter also which might possibly be referred to the Railway Board.

In conclusion, let me say, that I trust that you will all work in harmony, and that we will all endeavor to apply our energies for the town's interest which must also be our own.

I hope that my duties as your presiding officer, will be pleasing to you, and that in order that the Council meeting may be both pleasant and profitable, that your work will be prepared before you come, and I would specially ask that during the winter months at least you be promptly at hand at 7.30 p.m., in order that the sessions may be terminated at an early hour.

TEST YOUR BAROMETER.

Moisture in the Tube Will Render it Unreliable.

Do not expect a barometer to tell you anything about the weather until you have tested it thoroughly. Two common causes for unreliability are air mixed with the mercury in the tube. These can be expelled by tapping the mercury.

In order to test a barometer let it stand for a time in the proper position; gently and with care incline it so that the mercury may strike against the glass tube. If there is no air within it will hear a sharp metallic click. If the sound is dull and muffled it indicates the presence of both air and moisture. The presence of air alone is indicated by minute bubbles.

At any time the mercury seems to rise to the tube, even in the slightest degree, and the convex surface assumes a more flattened form it is safe to conclude that either air or moisture is present. In any of these cases the instrument should be put into expert hands for rectification.

There are several kinds of barometers. The ordinary "weather glass" in common use is more or less unreliable and is easily made more so by careless handling. In fact, any barometer must be treated with great reverence in order to retain its usefulness. per's Weekly.

The First False Teeth.

A little more than a century ago humanity had to rub along without teeth, of which nowadays one alone claims to sell over 12,000 a year. The first successful maker of dentures was Giovanni Fossati, an Italian, who started practice in Paris in 1788 and, thanks to his skillful treatment of Lucien Bonaparte, soon made his way. After years of experience he discovered the substance which artificial teeth are made of, and received the gold medal of the Academy of Science. One of the earliest persons fitted with false teeth was the empress of Russia. After Napoleon Fossati migrated to London then to Madrid, where Ferdinand VII. rewarded him with a yearly pension of 1,000 ducats for a set of teeth.

BUILD OF THE BABY.

Weights and Measurements Up to Three Years of Age.

A baby should weigh at birth seven pounds, at three months eleven pounds, at six months fourteen pounds, at one year twenty-one pounds, at two years twenty-six pounds and at three years thirty-one pounds. The length of a baby at birth should be twenty inches, at three months twenty-two inches, at six months twenty-four inches, at one year twenty-eight inches, at two years thirty inches and at three years thirty-three inches.

The best measure at birth should be sixteen and a half inches, at three months sixteen and a half inches, at six months sixteen and a half inches, at one year sixteen and a half inches, at two years sixteen and a half inches and at three years sixteen and a half inches.

Babies are built very small, but well, even if below these figures is no cause for worry. But a baby is about normal size and

ONTARIO POLITICS

Features of the week in Provincial politics have been:

1. The illness of Sir James Whitney.

2. The evident disagreement revealed in Conservative papers as to Sir James Whitney's successor if unfortunately the Prime Minister is unable to return to the House. For example, the Toronto Telegram, Conservative, has an article from which the following quotations are taken:

"Many of the best friends of the party shake their heads knowingly when Hon. W. J. Hanna is suggested. That would mean more than one Cabinet break. Others shake their head when the name of Adam Beck is suggested because that, too, would mean a break. For a long time there has been friction in the Cabinet and Hon. Adam Beck has given it a wide berth for this reason—The strife of the last Session of the Legislature cannot be forgotten even by these charitably disposed towards Hon. W. J. Hanna and rubbing it in during the next session will not increase the glory of Hon. Mr. Hanna, while it will not help party."

3. Mr. Rowell's speech on the Local Option results, emphasizing especially the handicap of the three-fifths clause. Local Option, according to Mr. Rowell, is at once useful and insufficient. There is need in addition to Local Option of a Province-wide measure and that is what the Liberal party proposes to give.

4. Statement of J. C. Elliott, liberal member for West Middlesex, that, encouraged by the big majority given in the Toronto referendum on the question of granting votes to married women holding property if otherwise entitled to vote. He hoped in view of the Toronto expression of opinion, which he believed was shared throughout the Province, that his bill this year would be passed unanimously.

OUR GIRLS.

There are just two things that will keep girls straight at the age when they begin to think of longer dresses, and beaux. One is plain clothes and the other is home duties. The girls we see making fools of themselves are almost invariably over-dressed. They wear duds that women of thirty should hesitate about wearing.

A little girl with too many and too costly clothes on her back gets self-conscious and vain and loves admiration—and you grown-ups know the next step. A simple, pure-hearted girl, who has a place in a home, home work and home duties, has her heart there, and no boy can steal it. Even when maturity comes, and a real man comes, and a real affair of her heart comes, will such a girl leave home, and then only after a heart rending. But a girl who is at home only at the table and late bed time won't love that home. Work makes things sacred. The child whose home memories are not halloved by work, who is not needed, and does not feel the need, will not love home. And if she does not love the home of her girlhood, she will love no other. She will go anywhere for anything. Home will mean nothing to such a woman, and if she is respectable, she will only lack the opportunity to be a bad woman, and is good only through circumstances or by the necessity of an ugly face. She will curse any man she marries.

The mothers of this town who are responsible for the girls who gad on the streets should stop and think what they are doing. These girls are no longer children. They are at an impressionable age. Where will you

THE ISLAND OF THE STAIRS

Being a True Account of Certain Strange and Wonderful Adventures of Master John Hampdon, Seaman, and Mistress Lucy Wilberforce, Gentlewoman, in the Great South Seas.

By CYRUS TOWNSEND BRADY

Copyright, 1912, by Cyrus Townsend Brady

Sir Geoffrey, except Mistress Lucy, was the last of his race. The brave, fine old stock had at last been reduced to this one slender slip of a girl. Kith or kin, save of the most distant, she had none, nor did she enjoy much acquaintance. She had never been formally introduced to society. Sir Geoffrey had loved her and had been kind enough to her in his careless, magnificent way, but she had been left much alone since the death of her mother some years before, and she had grown up under the care of governesses and tutors. The neighboring gentry had assembled with much show of sympathy, but I knew that Mistress Lucy felt very much alone, and I rather gloried in the position which made me, humble though I was, her friend.

It was over soon enough—the show and parade. No one spoke to me save Lord Lufton.

"You seem to be a man of sense, Master Hampdon," he whispered, drawing me apart after it was all over, "and I noticed the way Mistress Wilberforce looked at you when she first came in. I have still unspent some of the proceeds of our last bout at the table with her father that could be conveyed to the lady, and—"

"She would burn her hand off rather than accept anything," said I promptly.

"You speak with authority?" he asked, looking at me strangely.

"I have known her from a child," said I, "and her father before her. It is not in the breed to take favors, and—"

"But this is restitution, although we won it fairly. Sir Geoffrey was the most reckless and even the most foolish gambler I ever played with. We took advantage of that, but there was

"Can they be realized upon?"

"Instantly."

"To advantage?"

"Most certainly."

"I thank you, Master Ficklin, for your provident care of my little fortune. It is most unexpected," she faltered.

"Believe me, Mistress Lucy, it is a happiness to do anything for you," said the old attorney, rising and gathering up his papers and bowing low before her. "You may command me in everything. A temporary loan or—"

"Thank you, Master Ficklin," said Mistress Lucy; "you touch me greatly, but I need nothing at present. My father made me an allowance and generally paid it. It was a generous one, and, living alone as I did, I did not spend it. I have a few hundred pounds in my own name at the bank, and with that for temporary use and my mother's legacy I shall lack nothing."

"But where will you live, Mistress Lucy?"

"It matters little," she answered listlessly.

"My sister and I," said the old attorney, "live alone in the county town. The house is large. If you would accept our hospitality until your future is decided we should be vastly honored."

"I accept your kindly proffer most thankfully," was her reply. "I have been invited to various homes here and there in the county, but I prefer to go to you."

"Good," said Master Ficklin briskly. "That is settled then. I am empowered by those who hold the mortgage to tell you that the pictures of your father or mother or anything strictly personal they waive their claim to."

My Dear Lucy—As an ancient king of France once said, "Everything is lost but honor," and that trembles in the balance. I have speculated, gambled, tempted fortune, first because I loved it and at last hoping to win for you. But everything has gone wrong. You are penniless. Even your mother's fortune, of which she foolishly made me trustee, has followed my own. Master Ficklin may save something from the wreck. I hope so. I can do no more, and perhaps—nay, certainly—the best thing I can do for you is to leave you. May God help you since I cannot. Your shamed and unhappy father.

GEOFFREY WILBERFORCE.

Post Scriptum.—The last thing that I possess is this scrap of parchment. It has been handed down from father to son for five generations. The tradition of it is lost; but there has always been attached to it a singular value. Perhaps some day the missing part may turn up. At any rate, of all that I once had this is what is left. Should you marry and have children pass it to them. A foolish request, but I am moved to make it as my father made it to me. G. W.

I read it slowly. It was not a brave man's letter. I liked Sir Geoffrey less than then ever before. Some of the ancient awe and reverence I felt for the family went out of my heart then.

"Here," said I, "is the inclosure to which your father refers."

She took it listlessly, but as her glance fell upon it her face brightened.

"Why," she exclaimed, brushing aside her tears, "I have the other half. It came to me from my mother. When she died, five years ago, she gave it to me with much the same account as my father gives. I have never shown it to any one—never mentioned it even."

"Why not?" I asked.

"I scarcely know. It was valueless. I attached no special importance to it. But now, now—"

"It is a miracle," I said, "that the two pieces should have come together in your hands."

"I don't yet understand what it all means," she said, "but—"

"Meanwhile," said I, "may I respectfully suggest that you get the other piece and let me look at it?"

"You!" she flashed out in one of those sudden changes of mood, sometimes so delightful and sometimes the reverse.

"I am a seafaring man, as you know, mistress," said I humbly, "and I am accustomed to study maps and charts."

"Exactly," said I. "Your note says this parchment has his possession for five generations; evidently it was in the possession of your mother's people for th time. Who was the father of two brothers?"

She thought a moment.

"Sir Philip Wilberforce was name. He was—"

"A sailor!" I exclaimed.

"Yes, he voyaged in distant Queen Elizabeth's time. Geoff. Oliver, his sons, quarrelled o property after his death, and—"

"There you have it. They his fortune and tore the par apart, it being thought valua some reason and each kept half

 "I have known her from a child," said I, "and her father before her. It is not in the breed to take favors, and!"

"But this is restitution, although we won it fairly. Sir Geoffrey was the most reckless and even the most foolish gambler I ever played with. We took advantage of that, but there was no cheating, no, as I am a gentleman."

"Under the circumstances, then," said I, "there is nothing further to be said."

"But what will the poor girl do?" he persisted.

I shook my head. I did not know how to answer that question, for I did not know what she would do. Nevertheless I was touched and pleased with his interest. The man had some good in him still. Association with such a scoundrel as Arcester had not yet wholly ruined him.

"It is too late to make reparation now, although the wish does you honor, my lord."

"Well, Hampdon, if you have a chance to tell her what I wanted," he said, "please do. I should do it myself," he continued, "only since her repudiation by that blackguard Arcester she will not admit me to speech. If I were a bit younger and not so confoundedly in debt I would marry the woman myself."

"She is well for a better man, my lord," said I, exactly as I had answered the duke.

He looked at me curiously for a moment and then laughed loudly.

"Doubtless," he said, "you may tell her that too."

With that he turned on his heel and walked away, and I saw no more of him. I stood about on the terrace until the last of the gentry had gone. My lady spoke to me:

"Master Hampdon," she began wearily, "will you come into the house? Master Ficklin, the lawyer, is here waiting to go over my father's papers with me. You have stood by me manfully, your people and my people have been"—she stopped a moment, "friends," she added, "for 500 years. I have no one else with whom to counsel. Come with me."

CHAPTER III.

In Which I Deliver a Letter.

SIR GEOFFREY'S will, as Master Ficklin read it, was a simple affair. It left everything of which he died possessed to his daughter. Unfortunately, he died possessed of nothing. The document was mere waste paper. Everything was mortgaged, every family portrait even. Mistress Lucy appeared to have no legal right to anything in or out of the castle, save the clothes she wore.

"The point is," Mistress Lucy said, as Master Ficklin bowed deferentially toward her, "that I have nothing?"

"Nothing from your father, madam," "But my mother's estate?"

"I regret to say," said Master Ficklin, "that most of it has been converted into money and lost by your father. There is left in my hands, madam, only a matter of some £2,000, out at interest, which you, being now of full age"—

"I was eighteen on my last birthday."

"Exactly, so that it is at your present disposal."

"What shape is it in?"

"It is invested in consols."

been invited to various homes here and there in the county, but I prefer to go to you."

"Good," said Master Ficklin briskly. "That is settled then. I am empowered by those who hold the mortgage to tell you that the pictures of your father or mother or anything strictly personal they waive their claim to."

"Thank you," said Mistress Lucy. "I shall take but small advantage of their generosity."

"I know that," answered Master Ficklin, "and now I will return to the town. If you will be ready about 6 o'clock" (it was then about 2) "I will return and fetch you to our home."

"I shall be ready. Goodbye."

The little lawyer bent over her hand and left the room. I sat dumb and silent during the whole interview, although I had listened to everything with the deepest interest. As usual, it was she who broke the silence when we were alone again.

"Master Hampdon," she began, "to what a sorry pass am I reduced! What shall I do now?"

"My lady," said I, "the sorriest part of the pass to which you have been brought is that you have in me such a poor counselor, a rough sailor, but one who would, nevertheless, give his heart's blood to promote your welfare, or do you any service."

Now, as I said that I laid my hand on the breast of my coat, and as I bent awkwardly enough toward her—I could not even bow as gracefully as the little attorney just departed—I felt the paper which I had taken from Sir Geoffrey's hand and which I had entirely forgotten in the hurry and confusion of the days that had followed his death. I stood open mouthed with surprise and shame at my careless forgetfulness, and stared at her.

"What is it?" she asked, instantly noting my amaze.

"I am a fool, madam, a blundering fool," said I, drawing forth the paper, "here is a letter addressed to you which I should have delivered at once," I continued, extending it toward her.

She tore open the envelope as she spoke and drew forth a letter, unfolded it and there dropped from it a little piece of parchment which I instantly picked up and extended to her, but she was so engrossed in the letter that she did not see my action and paid no attention to my outstretched hand.

I looked at the parchment I held in my hand. It was evidently the half of a larger sheet which had been torn in two. The right half was in my possession. A glance showed me that it was a part of a rudely drawn map, apparently of an island, although lacking the other half of that I could not be quite certain. It was lettered in characters which were very old and quaint, and some figures in the upper left hand corner gave a latitude. The outlines of the map and the letters and figures were all very dim and faded.

My lady's letter was a short one, for she looked up from it presently, her eyes filled with tears, the first I had seen there, and for that reason I was glad she should enjoy this relief. I suppose the fact that she was so alone and had no one else induced her to confide in me. At any rate she extended the paper to me.

"Read it," she said. "'Tis my father's last word to me."

I took it from her, and this is what I read:

"It is an island!" she exclaimed.

Perhaps this may contain information vital to your fortunes which I can decipher more easily than another."

She nodded and went rapidly out of the room. In a few moments she came back with another piece of parchment. I placed them side by side, and the torn and jagged edges fitted into each other perfectly. I had laid them on a table and we bent over them in great excitement—excitement on my part caused by her proximity rather than by the faded, yellow sheepskin.

"It is an island!" she exclaimed.

"Yes," said I.

"Where is it?" she asked.

I pointed with my huge index finger to the figures in the upper left hand corner and the upper right hand corner marked respectively latitude and longitude.

"That will tell us exactly."

"And you can find it?"

"If it is there where the figures say I can as easily as I can find the park gate yonder."

She looked at me with a certain amount of awe. "Why, that is wonderful!" she exclaimed.

"Not at all. It is done by seamen every day."

"Have you ever been there?"

"No," said I. "I have crossed the south seas several times, but I have never chanced upon that island or, in fact, sailed anywhere near that latitude or longitude."

"But you know where it is?"

"Exactly, and if I had my great chart of the south seas here I could put my finger upon it and show it to you."

"What," she asked, pointing with her own dainty finger in her turn, "is that ring around the island?"

"That will be a coral reef, I take it. They usually are broken at some point so that ships can sail within, but here is a complete circle enclosing the island. There seems to be no entrance anywhere. 'Tis unusual and most strange."

"Perhaps the man that drew it made a mistake."

"I think not. The map has been made by a seafaring man, that is plain."

"I see, and the island itself is a circle," she said, bending to inspect it more closely.

"Yes," said I, "and it is like no island that I have ever seen, for here be two great rings like a gigantic wall and a hill or something of the sort in the middle." I bent lower over it in my turn. My eyes are unusually keen, and I saw a word written on the outside of the island proper and between it and the coral reef. "See," said I, "the word 'Stairs!'"

"Stairs!" exclaimed the girl in amazement. "Did you ever see stairs on an island?"

"No, I have not, but these may be some natural means of ascent."

"It is most strange and meaning-

"I should think," I said slowly, "that £2,000 would be ample to cover everything."

"Ah," she said, "exactly the sum that Master Ficklin said was left of my mother's fortune."

"Yes," said I, and then I added in duty bound. "But you surely would not be so foolish, Mistress Wilberforce, as to risk your all in this wild goose chase?"

"If you were in my position, Master Hampd, what would you do?"

"I am a man," I answered, "accustomed to shift for myself. I might take a risk which I would not advise you to essay."

"I must shift for myself, too," she said, her eyes sparkling. The Goddess Chance, which had ruined her father, was evidently jogging her elbow. "Indeed, I shall take the chance," she persisted.

"But you could easily live on £2,000 for a long while," I urged, against my wish, for I was keen to go a treasure hunting with her for a shipmate.

Well, I was arguing against my wishes from a sense of duty, so I at last gave way. After all, the treasure might be there. If so, it was hers, and it would be a shame not to get it. The pulse of adventure leaped in my veins.

haps £1,500 or £2,000 more, or a total between five and six thousand pounds. And she had but two! I was about to tell her the prohibitive truth when the solution of the problem suddenly came to me. In one way or another I had been a fortunate voyager, and I had saved up or earned by trading and one or two adventures in which I had taken part something over £4,000, which was safely lodged to my credit in a London bank.

"I should think," I said slowly, "that £2,000 would be ample to cover everything."

The pulse of adventure leaped in my veins.

"So be it," I said.
"Will you help me to make my arrangements? You are accustomed to the sea, and"—

"I will do more than that," said I.
"With your gracious permission I will go with you."

"To the island?"
"To the end of the world," I replied.
Whereat she stared at me a moment,
then looked away.

She extended her hand to me and I tried to kiss it like a gentleman. I made, no doubt, a blundering effort,
but at least it was that of an honest man.

"I must go and get ready to go to Master Ficklin's in the town," she said softly. "You know the house."

I nodded.
"Come to me there tomorrow and we will talk further about the project."

When we broached the subject to Master Ficklin the next day at his house, he would not hear of it. He examined the parchment with interest, but poohpooched the tale because, forsooth, it had no legal backing and was couched in the phraseology of the sea rather than in the dry verbiage of the law. He pointed out that he had only succeeded in saving this last £2,000 of my lady's fortune because he had skillfully concealed its existence from Sir Geoffrey. He asked pertinently what would happen to her when all was gone and she had found no treasure, the very existence of which he affected to disbelieve.

A very hard headed, practical person was Master Ficklin. I had stern ideas of duty, too, and Master Ficklin's good sense ever appealed to me. Yet when did mere good sense ever appeal to a woman against her wish? My lady had the gambling instinct, too—I wonder she did not have it stronger, since 'twas in her blood!—and she would fain challenge fortune.

The end of it was she made over her £2,000 to me without requiring me to give any bond, which Master Fick-lin would fain have insisted upon and which would have been embarrassing indeed for me, for my bond would have been my own capital, which I was going to embark in the enterprise in secret. I had saved up that money with no one knows what foolish dreams. I realized those dreams would come to naught. I had no one dependent upon me. Brother or sister I never enjoyed, and father and mother were both dead. What need had I for money? Let her have it whose need was great and whose desire was greater. I might have bargained for a share of the treasure did we find any, but I scorned to do it. I would give all and expect nothing for it.

At any rate, not being in any hurry,
although I was frantically urged by my lady, who could scarcely possess
her soul in patience before she began her treasure hunting, I looked about a good deal in order to get just what I wanted. Finally from a merchant of Plymouth I purchased a stout little ship of three hundred and fifty tons burden called the Rose of Devon,
which had been engaged in the West Indian and the American colonial trade.

Don't be satisfied with anything less than an Edison Phonograph

Throughout the history of sound reproduction Mr. Edison has blazed the trail. Every important step has been conceived first in his mind. He is the acknowledged master of acoustics throughout the world. His recent triumph is the Blue Amberol Record.

It came, after countless experiments, with all its strength of volume, sweetness of quality and lasting endurance. To bring out the remarkable tone of this new record demanded a new reproducer. He invented it—the Diamond-Point Reproducer.
With it there is none of the annoyance of changing the needle
after each record. The diamond is as much a part of the phonograph as its beautiful cabinet.

Hear a Blue Amberol—that's all we
ask. Your Edison dealer will play over

Raising Colts.

Strong, healthy draft horses can be produced without oats. An experiment in progress at the Kansas Agricultural college has disproved the belief common among farmers that this feed is necessary for growing colts.

The experiment, which is to last three years, was started last January by the department of animal husbandry. Twenty colts were purchased, ten grades and ten pure breds. These colts were divided into two lots, with five pure breds and five grades in each.

For nearly a year the two lots have been fed the same sort of roughage—alfalfa, corn fodder and pasture. One lot has been fed oats every day, and the other has had a combination ration consisting of 70 per cent corn, 25 per cent bran and 5 per cent oilmeal. These percentages are based upon weight, not volume. One pound of this mixture contains the same digestible elements as one pound of oats. Also from the standpoint of energy value the two feeds are equal pound for pound. Each lot of colts has received the same number of pounds of grain.

"The test shows that there is a great chance for saving in feeding," said Dr. C. W. McCampbell, assistant professor of animal husbandry, who has charge of the test. "A farmer can better afford to feed the mixed ration with corn at 85 cents a bushel, bran at $30 a ton, oilmeal at $40 a ton and oats at 50 cents a bushel. The figures will prove it. When the experiment was begun, in January, prices were more nearly normal than they are now. Oats at that time cost 10½ cents a day, while the combination feed cost 8¼ cents a day."

Farm and Garden

POULTRY OPPORTUNITIES.

The Farm Is Most Conducive to Successful Poultry Raising.

The foundation upon which all successful poultry operations rest is constitutional vigor, according to poultry experts of the department of agriculture. Without a high degree of health it is utterly impossible to progress in poultry work, and there is no other place where conditions are so conducive to poultry success as they are on the farm. The farmer has the advantage of having free range for his birds, which means an unlimited supply of bugs, insects, green feed and grit as a food supply.

Poultry strongly constituted means highly fertile eggs and the production of good, strong chickens. Eggs produced from fowls that have free range on the farm hatch better than those from fowls that do not have that advantage. In feeding the farmer has the advantage over other poultrymen. Where live stock is kept there is a considerable amount of grain dropped upon the ground which could not be utilized other than by poultry. This, grain in most cases would be a total loss to the average farmer unless eaten by the fowls.

On most farms milk is available for feeding. Its value as an egg producer is not exceeded by any other one feed in existence. Chaff from the barn loft, containing many feeds that are readily consumed by poultry, can be used as a bed or litter in the poultry house instead of being wasted.

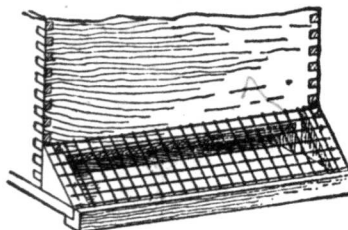

It is essential to successful poultry raising to know at all times the ages of your fowls. This can be readily done by toe punching chicks as soon as hatched, which will obviate the killing of the young hens and pullets before their days of usefulness are over. To do this use a small harness punch; perforate the outside web of the right foot between the toes, and the following year punch on the inside web of the right foot. The age of the flock can thus be told year by year.

As soon as the hen starts to molt after the second laying season it is advisable to market her, as in molting she will produce very few eggs, and by keeping her through this period, which lasts about ninety days, there is little to gain, and often the fowls die during this time.

The time is at hand when young apple trees must be protected or the owner will find that he has provided a very expensive winter feed for the rabbits.

Protective Hive Entrance.

Very often injury is done by mice entering beehives, especially such hives as are left on their summer stands during the winter. A simple way to protect hives without interfering with the exit and entrance of the bees is shown in the accompanying sketch. A triangular piece of wood is placed at each side of the entrance, and a strip of half inch wire netting, preferably galvanized, is fastened from side to side so as to cover the entrance completely. If the triangular pieces are screwed to the mouth they may be easily removed when necessary.

CUTTING SILAGE CROPS

A Great Deal Depends Upon Choice of Proper Time.

Corn and various sorghum crops most generally be used for silage. Corn should be cut for the silo when the grain has begun to harden, should still be a sufficient amount of green material in the plant to pack solidly in the silo. It is times very difficult to harvest in this ideal condition.

The use of water in filling is a necessity where dried out material is placed in the silo. The exact quantity necessary cannot be stated in terms. Enough water must be so that the material will pack and pass through the necessary fermentation. The most satisfactory to apply this water is by direct stream into the blower.

The Kaffir and sorghum should be allowed to become well matured in order to make ideal silage. These crops as a rule remain much later in the season, and a period in which they can be placed in the silo is longer than with corn. It is especially important that the sweet sorghum be allowed to reach full maturity before being cut in the silo. These crops have themselves to be very valuable large crops. These crops soon become frosted by an unseasonable frost. It is then necessary to cut them in the silo at once whatever stage of maturity. If left in the field after the leaves have been frosted a considerable portion of the fine material will dry up and be lost.

MABEL'S CHITCHAT

Don't Let That Chronic Discon- tented Feeling "Git You."

GOOD FOR A RESOLUTION.

The Reason Why One Is Often Held Up by the Wedding Present Habit—An Amusing Contretemps—"Sput" Society the Latest.

Dear Elsa—Do you ever feel thor- oughly discontented with things in general? Do you ever say to yourself: "It's impossible to be happy and con- tented as I am. If I only had a little more money, if my work was a little bit more congenial and interesting, if I had time for my hobbies, how happy I could be!

You do? Well, that's only human. Most of us feel like that every now and then, and my now and then is right now, so I'm going to "take it out" on you, my poor, patient Elsa.

You say it's a feeling one should guard against. Surely it is, and I realize as well as you do that it has a knack of growing and growing, this discontented spirit, until it becomes perilously near owning one entirely. When one reaches that state one lives in a fog of discontent. One is per- petually at war with one's surround- ings—the immovable square peg in a round hole. And this is a very un- pleasant and uncomfortable frame of mind to slip into. You're uncomforta- ble company for yourself and a per- fect nuisance to your friends.

Yesterday Aunt Margaret was here, and I gumbled to her somewhat after the fashion of these vaporings to you.

"My dear," said my venerable re- lative, "when you find yourself getting into this state of mind you have sim- ply got to do one of two things—either you must change your circumstances or you must change your mind."

I humbly inquired what I should do to be saved.

"Well, my dear, I certainly don't mean that you can alter things by sit- ting down where you are and never stirring a finger to better conditions.

"No, dear. It means that when you cannot better things you must cheer- fully endure what can't be cured.

"It sounds difficult. It is difficult. But it can be done. There is no need to be a slave to your thoughts. You can be their master. The gift of con- tentment can be cultivated."

Aunt Margaret insists that when the discontented spirit gets hold of one's mind one must think of what a num- ber of people there are who are worse off than oneself and yet are happy and what a number of persons better off than oneself who let happiness slip away from them.

This depression is nothing more than a social crime and to be treated as such. It is moral assault and battery. What right has one to spread discon- tent—to have bright, gay people come to one and to send them away dull and dispirited?

I don't see why I feel so much like lecturing you today. Probably it is because I can't help realizing that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. Now for gayer things.

Winter Gown Materials.

Velvets of all kinds are in favor for frocks this winter, especially the chif- fon and panne varieties. In fact, all velvet surfaced cloths are worn, and fure is a very beautiful material of this genre; also chameleon velvet.

which has a changeable ground with a nap of a different color—for instance, a background of red and blue with a nap of black.

Stripes are making a way for them- selves quietly, but persistently, and plaids are much in vogue when used in combination with plain material. In the cut is a very serviceable frock of tobacco brown and tan wool check, with bodice of brown chiffon cloth.

Quick Mayonnaise Dressing.

The making of mayonnaise dressing is usually a laborious and tiresome task, as the oil must be used drop by drop, unless the person is fortunate enough to possess a mayonnaise mixer. By using hot water with egg the drop- ping is eliminated, when the task is lightened and the time consumed shortened. Mix with the yolk of an egg a tablespoonful of hot water. Beat them well together. Then add the oil in as large quantities as de- sired. A pint may be added at will if desired without curdling. Use pepper and salt and vinegar to taste. A pint of olive oil is the proportion to use with an egg.

In all the troubles and tragedies that afflict the land there is a steady and

HAD TO STOP WORK FROM THE PAIN

Suffered Ten Years Until "Fruit-a-tives" Cured Him

ST. THOMAS, ONT., May 22nd, 1913. "I was troubled for ten years with the most distressing Constipation and Indi- gestion of the worst form.

No one could have been worse with these troubles than I was for this long time.

The pain from Indigestion was so severe that many times, I have had to stop work and lie down until the acute spasms passed away.

I took a lot of medicine—in fact, I guess I took about everything that was advertised—and gave them all a fair test—but got no relief. About a year ago, however, I was advised to try "Fruit-a-tives". I am mighty glad I did so for they seem to be made exactly for me.

They gave results in a very short time and I am now free from these diseases and enjoying perfect health.

My wife also used "Fruit-a-tives" and we both think they are the best medicine ever made."

Women applying for positions on the Chicago police force must be not less than thirty nor more than forty years of age. That age was long ago recog- nized as the one at which women are most dangerous, and doubtless the peril applies to lawbreakers as well as others.

G. K. Chesterton derides all the talk about "good old times." He says there never were any. Nevertheless it seems to be established that the Greeks also danced the tango and that the turkey trot was not outlawed in Corinth until the reformers got control of the city council.

a social crime and to be treated as such. It is moral assault and battery. What right has one to spread discontent—to have bright, gay people come to one and to send them away dull and dispirited?

I don't see why I feel so much like lecturing you today. Probably it is because I can't help realizing that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. Now for gay things.

I wonder how many wedding presents are sent because the donors really want to. Precious few, I reckon. I have been obliged to give so many of these gifts this season, simply because it was the proper thing to do. A rather amusing incident occurred at a recent fashionable wedding I attended. A bachelor, talking to the bride's mother, who was showing the wedding presents, exclaimed on pointing to a clock among several others:

"Ah, a stunning piece, by Jove! Just my idea of the real thing!"

"Yes," murmured the lady, "we did not know you unmarried men had such excellent judgment on these things."

He was still puzzling over the meaning of his reply when his sister, who always buys his presents for him, tugged at his coat sleeve and whispered:

"Don't be an ass. It's the one you are supposed to have sent."

Apropos of the "fancies" adorning our hats this winter, I am going to ask. Are you a "sput?"

"Sputs" are people who sputter when their eyes are almost put out or their noses tickled by the long, fluffy feathers projecting at acute angles from milady's hat. Well, a crabbed old gentleman out for his health on the top of a Fifth avenue bus the other afternoon had his nerves upset by the intermittent brushing in his eyes of what looked like a mouse on a stick, but which turned out to be a little bunch of gray fur on a wire. That did not soothe the poor man much.

"These females must be stopped," he spluttered. "Why should our comfort be endangered just for their idiotic fashions? I'll form a society and get a law passed prohibiting women from wearing feathers more than twelve inches long."

Dick says he is going out now to join the old man's feather brigade. Sympathize with yours faithfully,

New York. MABEL.

Game starts at 8.15. Admission 25c for adults; 10c for children under twelve.

Napanee Visited by Fire.

Friday evening last Napanee experienced one of the worst fires that has visited this town for several years. The alarm was rung in just as the town clock on the post office building tolled the hour of eleven o'clock. A prompt response was made by the fire company but when they arrived the fire was burning fiercely and the firemen, ably assisted by a number of citizens, put forth every effort to confine the flames to the building already burning. The fire is supposed to have started in the office part of the opera house, and shortly after the alarm was given the whole structure burst into a mass of roaring flames. It was only a matter of a few minutes when the fire reached the stage part of the building and quickly licking up the scenery the roof soon fell a prey to the flames. When this part of the roof fell in the high square walls, acting similarly to that of a huge chimney with a good draught, the flames were shot high into the air, carrying large sparks and big pieces of burning material and scattering them all over the adjoining buildings. Most fortunate indeed was it for that section of Napanee that the roofs of adjoining buildings, and lumber piles south of the canal were covered with snow, otherwise there would have been a more serious story to tell, and there is not a question of doubt that Napanee would have witnessed one of the worst fires in her history. The upper story of what is generally known in Napanee as the Warner block, which stood close up against the opera house, was soon in flames, and it was at this point where the firemen put up their fight to keep the flames out of the Mack hotel. A wooden building also connects the opera house and the Mack hotel, and at these two points the firemen put forth their best efforts and succeeded in stopping the progress of the flames. The opera house was completely gutted, and the top story of the Warner block was also burned off. It was only a few years ago that the opera house was entirely rebuilt, and to-day all that is left is the unsightly walls which are badly cracked and bulging and in a dangerous condition. To-day Napanee is without a suitable place for public entertainment and we understand Mr. John Mack, the proprietor, does not intend to again rebuild the opera house. For some time past the opera house has been used as a moving picture theatre, and Mr. Mack states that when he locked up the house at a quarter past ten o'clock on Friday night, everything was apparently in a safe condition. How the fire started will probably always remain a mystery.

Andrew's College on Tuesday.
Mrs. Joyner has purchased Mr. D. A.
Gerow's residence on Adelphi street.
Mrs. Jas. Gordon attended the funeral of her aunt, Mrs. M. J. Watt, on Wednesday of this week in Kingston.
Mrs. F. Jas. Roblin underwent an operation in Kingston General Hospital on Thursday of last week and is improving as well as could be expected.
Rev. J. Cautrell, who conducted the services in St. Mary Magdalene Church during Mr. Kidd's absence, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. W.
Kelly for the week end.

Miss Mabel Stafford spent Friday
and Saturday last in Kingston.
Mrs. J. A. Shibley left on Tuesday for Edmonton, Alta., after spending a month with relatives and friends in town.
Miss Marion Kaylor has returned to Toronto after spending the holidays at her home in Morven.

Everything neat; first class workmen; cigars and tobacco. Give me a call.
J. N. OSBORNE.

The Fire Whistle.
The proposition has been made to place the fire whistle which was formerly on the power house, on the water-work's pump house and operate it by compressed air. A small air pump and tank could be connected to the pump shaft and the whistle would always be ready for use. When the opera house burned on Friday night
last a large number of citizens in the west end, some of whom had property
in the vicinity of the opera house, did not hear the bell and knew nothing of the fire until Saturday morning. The whistle would be a convenience to the people, who can not now hear the bell.
Had the fire on Friday evening last occurred when there was no snow on the roofs, and when everything was dry, every able bodied citizen of Napanee would have been required to assist in the checking of a general conflagration. We hope the scheme will be successful, and the fire siren will be made workable as soon as possible.

For lice on cattle and poultry use our "Lice Kill Powder," 25 cents per lb. It is perfectly harmless and guaranteed to do the work. At the Medical Hall—Fred L. Hooper.

Oranges, Oranges.
Now is the time to buy oranges.
Mexicans and Seedless Navals, per peck 50c, at Frank H. Perry's.

Killed Near Enterprise.
George Russel of Belleville was instantly killed shortly after midnight Monday near Enterprise, Russell was fireman on a train working for the Dominion Construction Company on the new Canadian Pacific line. It is stated that this light train had orders to run as far as the water tank, where a lookout was to be kept for two light engines taking water. Near Enterprise the flanger pitched into the standing engines. The crew of these saved themselves by jumping, except one who was cut about the eye and had two teeth knocked out. Russel was caught between the engine and somewhat crushed and dropped between. He was badly scalded and death was due to crushing and inhalation of steam. Russel was removed and taken to Belleville where Dr.
Yeomans opened an inquest saying that evidently in the excitement a Coroner in Lennox and Addington was not notified. Russel was twenty-seven years of age and leaves a wife and two children.
